DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 6-11, 14, 32-37 and 40 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Smits, US Patent 6,125,115. Smits discloses a teleconferencing method and apparatus comprising sound sources, audio decoder 364, source location decoder 362, spatialization components 368a, 368b, and speakers 344a, 344b (or headphones 346) in figure 3. The apparatus is used to spatialize the sound sources coming from participants of a teleconference. Column 6 lines 40-60 disclose that the user has the capability to assign spatial locations to the sound sources, thereby giving him/her the ability to change the locations of the sound sources. Thus, the apparatus provides an alert signal at a first location and can change the apparent location of the alert signal to a second location. As shown in figures 5 and 6, the azimuthal angles are within the claimed ranges. Claims 6-11, 14, 32-37 and 40 are met.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 12, 13, 38, and 39 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
